

UUCOM 2009 Summer Arts and Film Festival

Due to the length of some of these programs, we must begin promptly at 9:30 a.m. Coffee will be ready by 9:15 a.m. for those who wish to sip and visit. Although none of these programs contain inappropriate material for younger people, most of them will not hold the attention of children. Parents should use their discretion or ask the facilitator regarding the theme and content of the program. Child care will be provided every Sunday.

June 7th - Music from the Inside Out

If you enjoy classical music, you must join us for this film. I guarantee you will never think of an accordion in the same way as before.

June 14th - The Big Kahuna

This small cast film is really a series of duet scenes superbly written and acted which explore relationships, the business world and religion.

June 21st - God on Trial

A recreation of Jews in an extermination camp who put God on trial for the atrocities they confront. Their verdict?

June 28th - Sizzle

Randy Olson's newest film is a zany "mockumentary" on global warming. You'll remember his mother, Muffy the Moose, from his documentary Flock of Dodos he screened for us in a previous summer festival.

July 5th – TED

This is a spectator's look at the thought-provoking annual Technology, Entertainment and Design conference which invites some of the most creative minds to speak about their inventions and ideas to make the world a better place.

July 12th – Theatre Arts

Blessed with the most outstanding community theatre in the nation, we are fortunate to enjoy an extra helping of theatre this summer. Come see what Lisa and Tim Jebesen have to share about their passion – the stage.

July 19th - The Elephant Man

People are like artichokes. What really matters is on the inside. This film says that and a whole lot more.

July 26th - Mystery Sunday

We are currently attempting to locate several out of print DVDs we have wanted for our summer program. Come see what we found.

August 2nd - A Powerful Noise

A film about three women who strive to empower other women.

August 9th - Writing for You and Me

Tom Parks will publish the creative writings of UUCOM members. Let's delight each other with our compositions.
